Case No.: [REDACTED]

Division III

JUDGMENT OF PATERNITY, CUSTODY AND CHILD SUPPORT

Now on this 1st day of December, 2011, comes on for hearing, Plaintiff's Petition for Paternity. The minor plaintiff [REDACTED] Plaintiff, [REDACTED] appears in person, [REDACTED] Defendant [REDACTED] appears in person pro se.

The parties announce ready for trial and evidence is adduced. The court then takes this matter under advisement.

NOW ON THIS 12th day of December 2011, after hearing the evidence, having examined the record, and being duly and fully advised in the premises, finds as follows:

1. Defendant [REDACTED] has resided in the State of Missouri, County of Platte, for more than six (6) months preceding the filing of this Petition and presently resides at [REDACTED] Missouri.

2. Plaintiff [REDACTED] resided in the State of Missouri, County of Clay for more than six (6) months preceding the filing of this Petition and presently resides at [REDACTED] Missouri. The minor plaintiff [REDACTED] currently resides with the Plaintiff.

3. Defendant was duly served with summons and a copy of the Petition herein on April 27, 2011, and Defendant timely filed an Answer to the Petition.

4. The court has jurisdiction over the parties and subject matter of this action.

5. Plaintiff [REDACTED] is the natural Daughter of Plaintiff, [REDACTED] and Defendant [REDACTED]

6. On or about [REDACTED] was born to Plaintiff [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] The minor child's birth is recorded with the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State of Missouri.

7. That Petitioner and Respondent have not entered into a Parenting Plan.

8. It is in the best interest of [REDACTED] that Plaintiff and Defendant be awarded her joint legal custody and joint physical custody with Plaintiff's address designated as the mailing address of [REDACTED] for residential and educational purposes.

9. The court has determined custody in accordance with the best interests of the child and pursuant to Section 452.375, R.S.Mo., has considered all relevant factors including the following:

a. The wishes of the child's parents as to custody and the proposed parenting plan submitted by both parties. The court has considered the parenting plans submitted by father and mother. Mother's plan called for sole legal custody and joint physical custody with the child living with mother. Father's plan called for joint legal and physical custody with the child living with father. Both plans call for frequent and meaningful time with the child for both parties. Mother indicated that the child would be better off living with her. Father indicated the child would be better off living with him. The testimony of the parties taken as a whole indicates that both parents have generally spent significant time with the child. This factor favors both parties.

b. The needs of the child for a frequent, continuing and meaningful relationship with both parents and the ability and willingness of the parents to actively perform their functions as mother and father for the needs of the child. The court believes that the best living environment for the child is for mother and father to share her joint legal and physical care, custody and control with the address of mother being the address of the child for educational and mailing purposes. The child shall live with mother unless father is exercising his parenting time. The court finds that mother's parenting plan should be adopted with certain amendments. Both parents testified that they could and do perform their functions as mother and father. Mother works full time but father does not. Father testified that he works only 15 hours per week as a personal trainer, is a "stay-at-home father" and believes that this should continue. The court disagrees with father. Trial testimony indicated that father has paid no support whatsoever to mother during the pendency of this case. Father stated that he buys food and diapers for the child, feeds the child and also cares for her on many occasions—but the court does not believe that this excuses the non-payment of support. Trial testimony indicated that mother is the party who takes the child to the doctor, and generally tends to the child's health care needs. This factor favors mother.

c. The interaction and interrelationship of the child with parents, siblings, and an other person who may significantly affect the child's best interests. The child is just over 2 ½ years old. It appears that both parties have a good relationship with the child. Neither party voiced serious complaints about the other. There was no testimony regarding any siblings. There was testimony from mother that her mother (the child's maternal grandmother) helps take care of the child. Father voiced no objections to the grandmother's care of the child. This factor generally favors mother.

d. Which parent is more likely to allow the children frequent continuing and meaningful contact with the other parent. It appears that the parties generally communicate well. They appeared to have few problems exchanging the child, and were able to handle any conflicts which arose. There was no testimony indicating that mother or father intentionally interfered with the parenting time of the other parent. This factor favors both parties.

e. The child's adjustment to the child's home, school, and community. As stated above, the child is just over 2 ½ years old. Mother lives in [REDACTED] and father lives in [REDACTED]. The child does not yet attend school. The child appears to be well-adjusted to both parties' homes. This factor favors both parties.

f. The mental and physical health of all individuals involved including any history of abuse of any individuals involved. There was no evidence presented concerning any mental health issues or any issues that related to the abuse of the child or either party. This factor is neutral.

g. The intention of either parent to relocate the principal residence of the child. Neither party testified that they were considering relocating their residence. This factor is neutral.

h. The wishes of the child as to the child's custodian. Due to the child's age, this is not a consideration. The child was not interviewed by the court. This factor is neutral.

10. In determining the custody of the minor child and her best interest, the Court has considered the following:

- a. Joint physical and joint legal custody to both parents;
- b. Joint physical custody with one party granted sole legal custody;
- c. Joint legal custody with one party granted sole physical custody
- d. Sole custody to either parent, and
- e. Third-party custody or visitation.

11. Plaintiff, [REDACTED], and Defendant, [REDACTED] have not participated in any other litigation concerning the paternity and/or custody of the minor child, [REDACTED] in this state or any other state, nor do they have information as to any custody proceeding concerning the child pending in any court of this state or any other state, nor do they know of any person not a party to this proceeding who has visitation rights to said minor child.

12. Neither party is a member of the Armed Forces of the United States or its allies on active duty.

13. The court finds that the following parenting plan to be in the best interests of the minor child. Said parenting plan to be as follows:
